Kurzweil 3000 Curriculum Integration Workshop

Wednesday, October 22, 2008 - Mount Prospect, IL

WHAT IS IT?

The goal of this make-and-take workshop is for you to create a Kurzweil 3000 infused unit of study that you can use in your classroom tomorrow. You will bring the curriculum materials and activities that you want to adapt to enable students with differing skills to work on the same content with varying scaffolds of support.

The day begins with a discussion of your project and then you prepare your digital curriculum material by scanning and editing a chapter of print-based text. Once your digital text is created, you will discuss, explore, and incorporate Kurzweil 3000 features in the pre-reading, reading and post reading activities of your lesson. The day concludes by sharing with your peers about Kurzweil 3000 supports that you incorporated in your lesson activities.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

This workshop is designed for educators and support staff who are using Kurzweil 3000 for Windows with their struggling students; but want practical ideas and experience with integrating Kurzweil 3000 into their curriculum.

WORKSHOP PREREQUISITES

- Prior attendance at a full day Foundations Workshop or other full day Kurzweil 3000 hands-on training.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Participants will be able to:

- Scan and edit a chapter of print-based text.
- Create an MP3 file and virtual print and edit a digital file.
- Access online resources to acquire supporting text and build background knowledge.
- Create and use vocabulary lists for a vocabulary development activity or writing activity.
- Use bubble notes and other note types to embed instructions and comprehension questions into a reading.
Prepare a worksheet or test for student use.
