

Install Guide – Kurzweil 3000 Read the Web for Mozilla Firefox (Windows) Lasted Updated: April 2015

Follow the instructions below to install the Kurzweil 3000 (K3000) Read the Web add-on in the Mozilla Firefox web browser.

Although there are many steps listed below, the Read the Web add-on install process is not complicated. (1) First make sure Firefox is installed on the computer. (2) Then click the Read the Web button in Kurzweil 3000 and follow the prompts. This document is authored for those that may have difficulties following the prompts.

Tech Info: This installation process should be conducted on each computer and once per user that logs into that computer. However, if your organization has roaming profiles enabled for Windows domain users, this process should only need to be followed once per domain user, installing the add-on to that user's roaming Firefox profile.
